THE SABBATH.

Fresh glides the brook and glides the gale,
Yet yonder halts the quiet mill;
The whirling wheel, the rushing sail,
How motionless and still!

Six days of toil, poor child of Cain,
Thy strength the slave of wat may be;
The seventh thy limbs escape the chain;
A God hath made thee free!

Ah! tender was the law that gave,
This body respite to thy breast;
To breathe the gale, to watch the wine.
And know the wheel may rest!

But where the waves the gentlest guide,
What image charms to light thine eyes?
The spire reflected on the tide
Invites thee to the skies.

To teach the soul its noblest worth,
The rest from mortal toil is given;
Go snatch the brief reprieve from earth,
And pass—a guest to Heaven.

They tell thee in their dreaming school,
Of power from old dominion hurled,
When rich and poor, and juster rule,
Shall share the altered world.

Alas! since time itself began,
That fable hath but fooled the hour;
Each age that ripens power in man
But subjects man to power.

Yet every day in seven at least,
One bright republic shall be known;
Man's world a while hath surely ceased,
When God proclaims his own.

Six days may rank divide the poor
O, Dives, from thy banquet hall;
The seventh the Father opens His door,
And holds His feast for all!

A Dream of Stephen Girard and its Consequences.

Stephen Girard was one of the most remarkable men who ever lived. Philadelphia, the city where he amassed his great fortune in business, was the recipient of his munificent bounty at his death, and his name and memory are well preserved in the Girard College, Girard Row, Girard Avenue, Girard Bank, Girard Insurance Company, Girard House, ect. At Girard Crllege where the support and education of some five hundred orphan and half orphan boys are provided for, there is a marble statue of Mr. Girard, which represents him with exact fidelity to his appearance in life. He was of short stature, had a benevolent smile and a shrewd face. He wore a large peculiar coat, and his hair was tied in a queue. His whole life was marked by eccentricities, which, in no particular were more observable than in his occasional act of benevolences.

In his office was a young man as clerk, who attended to his duties very intelligently and faithfully. This had attracted the attention of Mr. Girard, for nothing escaped him. One morning he came into the office, and calling the clerk, remarked:

"Young man, I dreamed about you last night."

"Dreamed of me?" returned the clerk in surprise.

"Yes; I saw a form and heard a voice. The form was your own, and the voice said: 'This man is your best clerk, but he should be a cooper. Merchants fail, but coopers are always sure of a living by their trade. So you must leave me and learn to be a first-rate cooper. I never go contrary to my dreams. They often tell me how to proceed. I trust in them as I do my own judgment, and I obey them conscientiously. Go and get a place to learn the trade of a cooper, and when you can make a barrel come and see me again."

The clerk was, of course, greatly astonished, but he had no fear of toil, and he knew that he would lose nothing by falling in with the directions of Mr. Girard. Accordingly he settled up his affairs at the office, and in a few days engaged with Mr. Girard's cooper to learn the trade. During a long period he kept steadily at work, and made excellent progress.

Meanwhile Mr. Girard had not forgotten him. He often saw the young man in his overalls on the wharves at work, and he always spoke encouragingly to him He had not made up his mind as to what he would do for him, but he was greatly pleased at the successful carrying out of his dream. On one occasion, as he came from the wharf, he muttered:

"My young cooper is doing well. He is a man, every inch of him. I must give him a helping hand."

A few nights subsequently the good old man was sleeping calmly in his humble looking apartment. His real wealth did not show itself in anything about him. The furniture was old-fashioned, and all the surroundings were strictly after the plain taste of the owner. As he slumbered his countenance was calm, and without the trace of a single care. At times a slight smile flitted over his face, and he seemed to be in a pleasant dream.

His slumbers continued for a considerable time, when he suddenly awoke. He rubbed his eyes and then spoke.

"Ah, ha!" he said, "I've had a dream again about my young cooper. I thought that I'd hear something about him again. There is a good spirit looking after his welfare, surely. 'When he finishes his apprenticeship, and is a good cooper, give him twenty thousand dollars to start in business,' whispered a voice in my ear. Of course I will. He is worthy of encouragement. The money will go into good hands. Of course I'll give it to him but in my own way. Ha, ha; I've a plan for that."

Soon the old man dropped into another slumber again. He had the same calm countenance, and the same serene smile. His life was devoid of all evil, and his dreams were of good deeds in store for the future.

Time passed on. One day the young man called into Mr. Girard's office. He was in the garb of a mechanic, and he looked healthful and sinewy from manual labor.

"Good day, Mr. Girard," he said, as the old gentleman turned to him with a warm greeting. "I have come to tell you that I am a good cooper now." I've served my entire time."

"Can you make a good barrel?"

"As good as any cooper in Philadelphia."

"Make twenty, and bring them here yourself."

The young man went off, and in an hour was hard at work at the barrels. He was really a superior workman, and when the twenty barrels were completed they were the admiration of all in the shop. When they had been placed in Mr. Girard's store he examined every one of them with the closest scrutiny. He looked at the staves, the hoops, the heads, the shape, the cutting, and the driving, and in the end remarked to the young cooper, who was anxiously waiting his verdict:

"They are good barrels. I never saw better. You have learned your trade, and done your part faithfully. Come into the counting-room, and I'll now do mine."

The couple went into the office. The old man's face was beaming with pleasure and satisfaction, and the young man's was flushed and pale by turns from the peculiar circumstaces of the moment. Mr. Girard took down his check-book, and wrote a check. This he cut out, and then turning to the young man, said:

"My young friend, listen to me. Your fidelity, promptness and energy attracted my attention Then I had the dream about you I mentioned to you a long time ago. You acted with alacrity upon the suggestion made in consequence of that dream, and to-day you stand before me skilled in a trade. I have dreamed of you in the meantime. A good spirit whispered into my ear to give you twenty thousand dollars. You have made for me twenty superior barrels, for which I will now pay you one thousand dollars each, making twenty thousand in all.

Mr. Girard at this juncture placed in the hand of the agitatud young man the check he had prepared.

"Now," he continued, you have a capital to commence business as a merchant if you see fit. Should disaster overtake you, go to your trade again."

The young man broke forth into a torrent of thanks, but Mr. Girard abruptly stopped him, saying:

"You lose interest on your money while you talk. I have fulfilled my dreams, and done justice by you. Good morning."

Here this strange interview ended. The young man went away with the deepest gratitude in his heart, and a resolution to make a man in business worthy of the respect of his generous benefactor. He subsequently became one of the first merchants of Philadelphia. This incident is one of the most singular in the history of Mr. Girard, and no less in the annals of dreams.

Running a Newspaper.

One of our exchanges is excited over being asked to do gratuitous puffery and relieves itself in this vigorous fashion:

"Some men who have paid two dollars at an early period in life for an advertisement worth four or five, appear to think they are stockholders in the establishment for eternity. They demand the publication of all marriage and funeral notices, obituaries and family episodes for the next forty-seven years gratis. Speak of pay and they grow indignant. 'Don't I patronize your paper?' 'Yes; but you received the worth of your money for what you paid.' 'But,' says the patron, 'it will not cost you anything to put this in,' which is as ridiculous as to ask a man to grind your ax on his grindstone, and graciously tell him that it won't cost him a cent. It takes money to run a newspaper, as well as any other business, and no paper will succeed financially that carries a deadhead system. Any mention of the people's affairs that they are anxious to see in print is worth paying for.

"The newspaper business is very exacting on all connected with it, and the pay is comparatively small; the proprietors risk more money for small profits, and the editors and reporters work harder and cheaper than the same number of men in any other profession requiring the given amount of intelligence and training and drudgery. The life has its charms and its pleasant associations, scarcely known by the outside world; but it has its earnest work and anxieties and hours of exhaustion, which, likewise, are not known to those who think the business all fun. The idea that newspaperdom is the charmed circle where the favored members live a life of ease and free from care, and go to the circus at night on a free ticket and to the springs on a free pass in the summer, is an idea which we desire to explode practically, theoretically. Business ts business, and the journal that succeeds is the one that is run on a square business footing, the same as banking or building bridges, keeping a hotel or running a livery stable."

Science Versus Distance.

The first circumnavigators of the globe were accepted as great heroes, and viewed with a kind of superstitious admiration. The published accounts of their voyages and travels made many a boy a sailor and a wanderer for life. And, considering the limited knowledge of the geography of land and sea possessed by the wisest of that day, and the utmost speed and strength to which sea going vessels had then attained, the first feats of circumnavigation deserved to be regarded as wonderful achievements.— But all the facts have wonderfully changed. Distance, as against science, has sustained tremendous losses in the conflict. At present a trip round the world may be computed as follows:

From New York to Cleveland, 625 miles, in seventeen hours; thence to Chicago, 538 miles, in twenty-one hours; thence to Omaha, 499 miles, in twenty-three hours; thence to San Francisco, 1,950 miles, in ninety-three hours; thence to Yokohama, 4,714 miles in twenty-one days; thence to Hong Kong, 1,670 miles, in six days; thence to Calcutta, 3,500 miles, in fourteen days; thence to Bombay, 1,219 miles, in two days; thence to Cairo, 3,600 miles, in twelve days; thence to Alexandria, 100 miles, in five hours; thence to Marseilles, 1,800 miles, in six days; thence to Havre—via Paris and Rouen—575 miles, in thirty hours; thence to New York, 3,150 miles, in nine days—thus "swinging round the circle," 23,739 miles, in just seventy-seven days and twenty-one hours.

Is it at all a matter of surprise, in view of this marvelous swiftness of the vehicles of modern travel, that the Dodds, Smiths, Hills, Joneses, and even the "Innocents," should be tempted to start and pursue the circle round? A traveled man once had claim to some distinction. But alas for him now if he has no better claim! The fool and the philosopher—the beggar and the prince—now jostle each other the world around. All that is to be seen of this world with the eyes of man is fast becoming common property; and, like all other things when made common, we presume the select will soon cease to travel, and will seek for eminence in the superior advantages which surround them at home.—State Journal.

The Trades of Animals.

Bees are geometricians; their cells are so constructed as, with the least quantity of material, to have the largest sized spaces and the least possible loss of interstice. So, also, is the antlion; his tunnel-shaped trap is exactly correct in its conformation, as if it had been made by the most skillful artists of our species, with the aid of the best instruments. The mole is a meteorologist. The bird called the nine-killer is an arithmetician; so, also, is the crow, the wild turkey, and some other birds. The torpedo, the ray, and the electric eel, are electricians. The nautilus is a navigator; he raises and lowers his sail, casts and weighs his anchor, and performs other nautical evolutions. Whole tribes of birds are musicians. The beaver is an architect, builder, and woodcutter; he cuts down trees and erects houses and dams. The marmot is a civil engineer; he not only builds houses, but constructs aqueducts and drains to keep them dry. The white ants maintain a regular army of soldiers. The East India ants are horticulturalists; they make mushrooms, upon which they feed their young. Wasps are paper manufacturers. Caterpillars are silk spinners. The bird ploceus textor is a weaver; he weaves a web to make his nest. The primia is a tailor; he sews the leaves together to make his nest. The squirrel is a ferryman; with a chip or piece of bark for a boat, and his tail for a sail, he crosses a stream. Dogs, wolves, jackals, and many others are hunters. The black bear and heron are fishermen. The ants are regular day-laborers. The monkey is a repe dancer. The association of beavers presents us with a model of republicanism. The bees live under a monarchy. The Indian antelopes furnish an example of patriarchal government. Elephants exhibit an aristocracy of elders. Wild horses are said to select their leader. Sheep, in a wild state, are under the control of a military chief ram.

MAGNETIC SPRING.—Sometime during the year 1868, a company commenced boring for salt water at St. Louis, Gratiot county, Michigan with the intention of starting a salt factory. After they had gone down 200 feet they struck a stream of water which discharged 280 gallons of water per minute. This caused them to cease their boring, and as the water was fresh, it was abandoned so far as manufacturing was concerned, but the people of the place used it for culinary and other purposes Finally it was discovered that it magnetized iron, and knives were laid in it for a day or so, and found to be completely magnetized. Afterwards a man living in the place, who had a paralyzed arm, commenced bathing it in the water, and the relief he obtained was so visible that others who had friends so afflicted sent for them, and all being benefitted, the water obtained quite a celebrity, and at the present time there are hundreds stopping at the hotels erected in the town for the accommodation of invalids. The company owning the well has erected a bath house close by, and every arrangement has been made for the comfort and convenience of patients.

What a Spider eats per Diem.

In order to test what a spider could do in the way of eating, we arose about daybreak in the morning to supply his fine web with a fly. At first, however the spider did not come from his retreat, so we peeped among the leaves, and there discovered that an earwing had been caught and was now being feasted on. The spider left the earwig, rolled up the fly, and at once returned to his "first course." This was at half-past five a. m., in September. At seven a. m., the earwig had been demolished and the spider, after resting awhile, and probably enjoying a nap, came down for the fly, which he had finished at nine a. m. A little after nine we supplied him with a daddy long-legs, which he ate by noon.— At one o'clock, a blowfly was greedily seized, and then immediately, with an appetite apparently no worse for his previous indulgence, he commenced on the blowfly.

During the day towards evening, a great many small green flies, or what are popularly termed midges, had been caught in the web; of these we counted one hundred and twenty all dead and fast prisoners in the spider's net. Soon after dark, provided with a lantern, we went to examine whether the spider was suffering from indigestion or in any other way from his previous meals: instead, however, of being thus affected, he was employed in rolling up together the various little green midges, which he then took to his retreat and tea. This process he repeated, carrying up the lots in little detatchments, until the web was eaten, for the web and its contents were bundled up together. A slight rest of about an hour was followed by the most industrious web-making process, and before day break another web was ready to be used in the same way. Taking the relative size of the spider and of the creatures it ate, and applying this to a man, it would be somewhat as follows: At day break, a small alligator was eaten; at seven a. m. a lamb, at 9 a. m a young cameleopard; at 1 o'clock a sheep, and during the night one hundred and twenty larks. This, we believe, would be a very fair allowance for a man during twenty-four hours; and could we find one gifted with an appetite and digestion, we can readily comprehend how he might spin five miles of web without killing himself, provided he possessed the necessary machinery.

Served Them Right.

The Evansville (Ind.) Journal relates that a number of young men, residents of Daviess county, returning from a dance just before daylight, a short time ago, thought it would be funny to make those whom they might meet perform a double shuffle, or pigeon wing, for their amusement. Accordingly they issued orders to two or three wayfarers, and saw them executed, to their delight. Just about daylight they met a horseman coming toward them, and apprised him of the rule they had made, and refused to listen to him when he politely declined. The stranger dismounted with great apparent reluctance, and tied his horse to the fence.

"Now, boys," said he, "I want to furnish my own music," and drawing a large revolver, pointed it at the head of one of the disciples of Terpsichore.

"Now, you rascals," said the traveler, "dance!"

The boys looked at each other in dismay, and then commenced. Heel and toe, double shuffle, essence of old Virginia breakdown, hornpipe, and every other variety of the terpsichorean art, known to the rustic jokers was perofrmed for about an hour, when the grim equestrian mounted his horse and rode off, leaving the young jokers tired and covered with perspiration, dust and humiliation.

SIMPLE CURE FOR DEAFNESS.—A gentleman, who for some years was so deaf as to be utterly unable to hear conversation in an ordinary tone of voice, called upon us the other day and requested us to publish the method by which his cure was affected, for the benefit of all who may be afflicted with his infirmity, whether arising from catarrh or other cause.

After trying the remedies prescribed by his physician, this gentleman, now over sixty years of age—was recommended to inject into the ear a mixture of castile soap and tepid water; or it may be made as hot as the part will bare.

By this simple and entirely innocent preparation, used daily for about two weeks the hearing of the gentleman recommends it was completely restored.

The additions of a few drops of pure oil or glycerine is also of advantage, as it softens the wax of the ear when it becomes hardened; or if the deafness is accompanied with the sence of uneasiness or pain, the addition of a few drops of laudanum will be of advantage in relieving the pain. A very large number of people are afflicted with partial deafness, and it can, we trust, do no harm to try so simple a remedy—a remedy which, our informant assures us is a certain cure in many cases.—Exchange.

The Globe.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Tuesday Morning, Dec. 13, 1870.

WM. LEWIS,
HUGH LINDSAY, } Editors.

The "Globe" has the largest number of readers of any other paper published in the county. Advertisers should remember this.

To our Friends, Patrons, Readers, Enemies, and the Public in General.

We take pleasure in informing all interested that we have made arrangements to enlarge and improve the Globe as early in January next as possible. Our new power press for the paper, one of the best make in use, will be finished and placed in our office by the first of January, and a new and improved power press for fine job printing will also be on hand in a short time, when we will be ready to do work with any office outside of the cities, and most work equally as good and as cheap as it can be done in the cities. Of course, we will be at a heavy expense in making the improvements we have determined upon, but we feel very sure the friends of the Globe will come to our assistance in good time. New subscribers received at any time.

☞ Bills have been introduced in both Houses of Congress to repeal the Income Tax.

☞ He who would write up the "living issues" should not delve among the carcasses of the dead.

☞ The public printing in the Congressional printing office cost, for the year ending September 30, $1,609,860.

☞ Viscount Trielhard is now at Washington representing France in the role of Minister Plenipotentiary from France.

☞ The Altoona Tribune's fling at prominent leading Republican politicians of this county is severe.—Didn't think the editors would venture out so far from home.

☞ The announcement of the promised reduction of the national debt to the extent of fifty millions of dollars next year will be as gratifying to the people as was the large decrease during the past twelve months.

☞ It is said that King William of Prussia is a practical printer. From the manner in which he has overrun his enemy's lines, and knocked their forms into pie, we think he is no botch, but a very poor hand at composing peace.

THE PAPER.—We have received a copy of Pittsburgh's new daily, styled The Paper. It is a nine column paper, full of news, ably edited and well printed. It is Democratic, and will vie with the Post in every particular. We wish it pecuniary success.

☞ The Commissioner of Agriculture has received from St. Petersburg a collection of Russian apples, including about 400 varieties in duplicates. Grafts from these will be distributed to nurserymen and others who desire to propagate from them.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.—We issued President Grant's able message in an extra last week as soon as it was possible for us to do so after it was read in Washington. It is worthy of a careful perusal and we have no doubt our readers have given it that before this time.

THAT'S THE RIGHT SPIRIT.—Since our last issue, in which we announced our determination to enlarge and improve our paper, and to secure new presses and material at a heavy expense, many of our patrons in arrears have paid up, and paid in advance, to encourage us. And new subscribers are also coming in, and promises in abundance from every direction, that we will be strongly backed by the Republican party in the efforts we intend to make to build up the party again to its strength in '68. We will try to deserve all the support we shall receive.

Postmaster General's Report.

The deficiency in the Post Office Department for the year 1870, is $2,814,116 98, as against $3,970,287 45 for the year 1869. The Department is still not self-sustaining, but the deficit this year is unusually and gratifyingly small. In his report, Mr. Cresswell again recommends the abolition of the franking privilege, by which the Department would soon become self-sustaining, and says that enough is known to show the aggregate cost of free matter for the year to be filled, equal to the above mentioned deficiency. He strongly urges the adoption of the "Correspondence Cards" now in use in North Germany and Great Britain, a description of which we published some time ago. A number of other subjects are discussed at length, of which the crowded condition of our columns will not permit us to speak.

Ex-Governor Vance.

At the close of the war Alex. H. Stephens was elected to the United States Senate, and was rejected by that body. The question now arises whether his friends would not have cause to complain if ex Governor Vance, or North Carolina, is admitted. Vance's chances of admission is a prominent theme at the national capital just now. The impression is that he also will be rejected. His record during the war has been overhauled, and some damaging revelations brought to light. Among others is his speech made to a confederate regiment, in which he said:—"Boys, fight till h—l freezes over, and then fight on the ice. Fight until you fill h—l so full of Yankees that their feet stick out of the windows." In 1863 he issued a proclamation relative to deserters from the rebel army, and Union men who harbored them, of which the following is an extract:

"The father or the brother who does it (discourages a member of his family from enlisting) should be shot instead of his deluded victim, for he deliberately destroys the soul and manhood of his own flesh and blood. And the same is done by him who harbors and conceals the deserters. What honest man will ever wish or permit his own brave sons or patriotic daughters, who bore their part with credit during the great struggle for independence, to associate, even to its third and fourth generations, with the vile wretch who skulked the woods, or the still viler coward who aided him, while his bleeding country was calling in vain for his help."

After the surrender of Lee, in a speech at Greensboro, he said:

"We have failed this time—there can be no doubt about that—but the time is yet coming that the principles for which we fought will succeed. I may not live to see it, but certainly my children will, and, if I live to be an old man, I shall see it also."

It is this class of men that the Democratic party of the South persist in giving the highest offices in their gift. Greeley wants all such men admitted, he thinks if a few more of the same kind were in Congress now there would be no difficulty electing a Republican President in '72.

Summary of War News.

The city of Orleans was taken by the Prussians on Sunday a week, after a severe battle that lasted several days. The German forces engaged embraced the united armies of Prince Frederick Charles, the 3d, 9th, and 10th Corps, under the Duke of Mecklenberg, one Bavarian corps, and two infantry and two cavalry divisions, 150,000 men in all. The French force consisted of six corps, aggregating 160,000 men, but was deficient in cavalry. The battle commenced on Thursday, and continued with varying successes during Friday and Saturday, and on Sunday the city was taken—King William telegraphed to Queen Augusta under date of Versailles, December 5th:

"The city of Orleans was occupied by our forces last night, without being stormed. The 3d corps took 9 cannon and 1 mitrailleuse. The 8th corps of the 1st Army, on the 4th inst., beat the French in several conflicts northeast of Rouen, taking one gun and 400 prisoners. Our loss was 1 killed and 40 wounded. WILLIAM."

On Monday the Prussians sent a flag of truce into Paris announcing the capture of Orleans and the rout of the Army of the Loire. The Parisians still hold out with determined obstinacy, although it is not believed they will be able, for want of provisions, to do so much longer. These are Prussian accounts.

On the other hand the French government appeals to the people of France to still maintain resistance, which is certain to end in triumph.—During another month 800,000 Frenchmen will be in arms. So Gambetta says.

There is much dissatisfaction with General Paladines for having evacuated Orleans, and in order to give him an opportunity to defend himself, the Minister of War has charged three commissioners to inquire into the matter.

The Germans claim to have captured 10,000 prisoners and 77 guns at Orleans.

Reduction of the Public Debt.

The public debt was reduced during the year ending Nov. 30, $119,251,240, and from the 1st of March, 1869, to December 1st, covering the period of Grant's administration (20 months) $191,151,665, which carries with it a reduction in the interest account at the rate of something more than ten millions per annum. Secretary Boutwell, in his annual report, estimates that the public debt will be reduced $50,000,000 including payments on account of the sinking fund, during the next fiscal year. The average premium on gold for the first eleven months of the present year has been 15·2 per cent. while for the year 1869, it averaged 32·9, showing an increased value in paper money of about 17 per cent.

☞ A train of twenty-two cars arrived in New York city on Tuesday last with an invoice of twenty car loads of tea and two of silk, only thirty-four days out from Yokoharnd or twenty-three days on the Pacific and eleven days by railroad. This is the quickest time on record.

☞ The Legislature meets on the 3d of January, 1871.

Jurors.

EDS. GLOBE: The manner now of selecting the jurors is somewhat different from what it was formerly. The law formerly required that the County Commissioners and Sheriff should select those who were to act as jurors. By this mode of selecting, it sometimes happened that all three Commissioners and the Sheriff belonged to the same political party and would place in the jury wheel none but those who belonged to their party. As great injustice was frequently done to suitors, who belonged to the opposite party, the Legislature in the winter of 1867 passed an act for the more impartial selection of Jurors. By this act, the power to select jurors was taken away from the County Commissioners and Sheriff. The people were required to elect two persons to act as Jury Commissioners, one from each political party. It was made the duty of these Jury Commissioners to meet at least thirty days before the first term of the Court of Common Pleas, in every year, and fill the jury wheel with the names of those who were to act as jurors for the ensuing year—the number they were to place in the wheel having been previously fixed by the court. At the November term of our court the number of jurors to be placed in the wheel for this year was fixed at six hundred. After the names of those who have been selected to act as jurors have been placed in the jury wheel, it is sealed and locked, the wheel remaining in possession of the Jury Commissioners and the key with the Sheriff. After the wheel has been filled, the Jury Commissioners and Sheriff open it and draw out the number of jurors required for that term of court and then again lock and seal the wheel.

This fall S. B. Chaney of Huntingdon borough and John Vandevander of Walker township, were elected Jury Commissioners to serve three years. They have been engaged for a number of evenings back at the Register's Office in filling the jury wheel for the coming year. The following is the apportionment of Jurors to the different townships and boroughs as made by the Jury Commissioners:

To Huntingdon borough is allotted 100 jurors.

West township,	48	"
Jackson "	46	"
Porter "	40	"
Walker "	47	"
Barree "	36	"
Franklin "	35	"
Warriorsm'k "	25	"
Tod "	25	"
Brady "	23	"
Union "	20	"
Henderson "	15	"
Oneida "	14	"
Morris "	12	"
Penn "	14	"
Cromwell "	14	"
Mt. Union borough	12	"
Cass township,	12	"
Shirley "	9	"
Cassville borough,	8	"
Lincoln township,	7	"
Dublin "	5	"
Shirleysburg boro.	5	"
Mapleton "	5	"
Tell township,	4	"
Broad Top City bor.	4	"
Coalmont "	2	"
Clay township,	3	"
Orbisonia borough,	3	"
Three Springs "	2	"
Springfield township	1	"
Hopewell "	1	"
Juniata "	1	"
Carbon "	0	"
Birmingham boro.	0	"
Mt. Union district,	0	"

By this apportionment eighteen townships and boroughs constituting over one-half the county, are not likely to have any jurors at any of our courts during the next year. Some seven others are not likely to have over two or three during the same period, while it falls to the lot of Huntingdon boro. and nine other townships to furnish all the jurors for the next year. We would like the Jury Commissioners to explain why all the jurors are taken from the Upper End, while few or none are taken from the Lower End of the County? Is this a partial or impartial selection? The law requires that the selection should be made from the county at large; why was it selected from one borough and nine townships?

The Jurors for the January Court have been drawn. Huntingdon boro. has 21 Jurors for that Court—while Birmingham, Carbon, Coalmont, Hopewell, Juniata, Lincoln, Oneida, Orbisonia, Shirleysburg, Springfield, Three Springs, and Mount Union District, have not a single juror, and Broad Top City, Clay, Cromwell, Henderson and Penn, have only one apiece, and Dublin, Morris, Mapleton and Tell, have but two each. Twenty-one townships and boroughs, one-half the county, have in all 13 jurors, while Huntingdon borough alone has 21. We do not impute any bad motive to the Jury Commissioners, but the selection of our juries is of vital importance to every citizen of the county. There is something very strange here, and we call upon the Jury Commissioners to explain it, as further inquiries will be made on the subject.

INQUIRER.

The value of farms and farm property in Kansas is over $83,000,000. The grain raised last year amounted to 24,000,000 bushels.

In Sandwich Islands it is death for a man's mother-in-law to visit him without permission. Happy Sandwich Islanders!

Pennsylvania, according to official statistics, ranks fourth amoung the States of the Union as regards the number of its merchant vessels and the total amount of its tonnage.

A balloon, according to the account of three persons who were captured in it near Verdun, came there from Paris in three hours and a quarter, or at the rate of about forty-five miles an hour.

It is stated that large quantities of white clay, called Kaolin, are shipped monthly from Georgia to the North. It is extensively mixed with flour and pulverized sugar, and is used in the manufacture of fancy candies and confections of different kinds.

An Ohio school boy wrote the following "composition" on trees: "There are a great many kinds of trees, the apple, peach, plum, cherry and a great many other kinds. I like cherry pie best."

Over Niagara Falls.

On Sunday morning the 20th ult, Mrs. T. M. Avery, who registered herself at the Spencer House, Niagara Falls, as Mrs. Hill, from Chicago, walked out, enveloped in a waterproof cloak, upon the bridge that spans the turbulent stream between Goat Island and the mainland. Here she walked to and fro on the foot path a few minutes, in a manner which showed that she desired to attract attention. Her singular actions did very shortly call the attention of a man employed near by. When she saw that she was watched she ceased to prominade, halted a moment close to the raling of the bridge, and then climbed over it and stood on the extreme outer edge of the structure. The man, who had been watching her at this juncture started to approach her, but before he could reach her she raised her cloak, pulled it over her head and plunged headlong into the rushing waters. The clothing of Mrs. Avery kept her afloat until she reached the verge of the precipice, when she disappeared over the American Fall.

The person who had seen the performance at once made known the circumstances. It coming to the ears of the landlord of the Spencer House, he at once went to her room. There he found two letters, one addressed to himself, and the other to a Mr Avery, Chicago. The letter to the landlord informed him that in a drawer in the room he would find $25, from which she wished him to take pay for her board; and asked him to forward the other letter to its destination. The letter was so sent, and a dispatch has been received from Mr. Avery requesting all the particulars.

Mrs. Avery, who lived at 245 west Washington street, Chicago, disappeared last Friday afternoon. Here mental faculties had been impaired by an attack of typhoid fever.

A man who was being shaved a few days ago, in a Chicago barber shop noticed that the barber did not carry a very steady hand, but thought it best not to be alarmed at trifles. When however, the tonsorial artist procured a box to stand upon, with the remark that "the snakes were all over the floor and he wanted to get out of their way" the customer concluded to finish the job himself.

The census returns show that the Presbyterians are the wealthiest denomination in philadelphia, their property being worth more than $4,000,000. They also furnish more sittings than any other church. The Episcopalians stand next in both respects.

An English writer thinks the American early potatoes will come to an end ere long, for as each new variety is claimed to ripen about ten days earlier than any other, the time between planting and digging will soon be used up.

An editor speaking of a drink he once had occasion to indulge in, says he could not tell whether it was brandy or a torchlight procession going down his throat. His taste had not been cultivated.

BEST FAMILY SOAP

Liberal Inducements to Purchasers.

A Plan Deserving the Attention of Every Family.

THE MYRTLE SOAP COMPANY

is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York; and transacting its business through the Agency of Danforth Brothers, at 40 Murray street, New York City. It offers to the public its

GOLD MEDAL SOAP.

In boxes of 40 lbs., at $5 a box, and gives purchasers an opportunity for dividends on each box—the dividends ranging from $0 to $25,000. On each 10,000 boxes sold and as soon as each 10,000 shall be sold, there will be 327 cash dividends made, varying from $5 to $50, and amounting to $2,500. And when 50,000 boxes shall have been sold, there will be a Final Grand Dividend of $32,000—viz:

A BROWN STONE HOUSE,

Brooklyn, (the deed of which has been left with the Safe Deposit Company, 146 and 148 Broadway), in trust of the purchaser of the fortunate box, and the balance in cash dividends, from $5 to $1,000 each. There will be in 1,536 Serial Dividends, and 836 Final Dividends, making 2,601 dividends in all.

$45,000 DIVIDEND to PURCHASERS

Purchasers of the

GOLD MEDAL SOAP,

will receive a properly numbered bill of purchase for each and every box purchased, the holders of which will share in the dividends in each of the 10,000 boxes to which their bills of purchase belong, and then ALL will share in the Final Grand Dividend, when 50,000 boxes shall have been sold.

NOT A GIFT ENTERPRISE.

This should not be classed with the numerous gift enterprise humbugs, It is an honest and legitimate business plan for introducing to public notice the Superior Goods of an Established and Reputable Corporation.—The plan is set forth in detail in the Circulars of the Company, which can be had at 40 Murray street or of any of the numerous local agents, and in which reference is made, by permission to a large number of well-known business and public men as to the integrity and honorable management of the Myrtle Soap Company.

THE SOAP HAS NO SUPERIOR.

Purchasers will get a box of soap at as low a price as the same quantity can be purcased in any market; ad article warranted to be of the very first quality of family and laundry soap.

It washes cleaner and quicker than any other soap with less labor.

It is invaluable to Mechanics, Printers, Painters, and others using inks, oils, &c.

It saves time, as clothes wash quicker.

It saves money, as one pound will go as far as two of ordinary soap.

It will make the best Soft Soap at a very small cost and very little labor.

It removes Grease spots, Paint, etc., from clothing.

It cleanses and softens the skin, not chapping.

It is equally good for the Bath, Toilet and Shaving.

It saves labor and clothes need less rubbing.

It will not injure the finest fabric.

Is is put up in boxes, 50 bars, 40 pounds.

It is stamped with the name of the Company on each bar.

It is an article every family wants and must have.

It is an article worth every cent paid for it.

And in addition to this, without the risk or loss of one cent purchasers will share in the liberal dividends to be made.

☞ Ask your grocer for it; if he does not keep it and will not get it, close write to us, and we will send it to you or send you the address of the nearest grocer who keeps it.

On the Wing.

Saxton has a new Odd Fellows' Hall.

The Altoona Daily Sun has suspended.

The last autumn was the hottest on record.

Going like hot cakes—tickets for Billings' lecture on the 20th inst.

All eyes and ears—Young America in search of Christmas gifts.

"Rowdyism is on the increase in Altoona." Was it ever on the decline?

An editor without scissors is like an old woman without spectacles.

Remarkable—The way our jurors are selected. Huntingdon can't complain.

Dull sale—pork and beef at reasonable prices. Pork 8 and 8½c; beef 8 and 9c.

Our subscribers are promptly paying up in order to get even with the enlarged Globe.

Christmas comes on Sunday this year—Monday will be turkey day with most people

The Dorsey property in this place was sold on Thursday last to Mr. William Long for $9,025.

The Globe was the only paper which gave its subscribers the President's message in an extra.

The last few days have been a little winterish, and the next few days may be a little more so.

A Bedfordite bit at a "confidential" New York circular. We hope to hear of no such fools in our county.

Everybody subscribe for the Globe now.—It will be enlarged in January next. Terms $2.00 a year, in advance.

Persons wanting any kind of goods should send to the agency of Crewitt Bros. No. 55 Chambers street, New York.

Almanacs, like brooms, may be found in every house. And some of our citizens are well posted in "signs."

Pickpockets in Philadelphia drug cigars and give them to the nice-looking fellows they want to pluck.

They are wise who secure their tickets in advance for Josh Billings' lecture in Yenter's Hall on the 20th inst.

Christmas is coming, and the little folks are beginning to feel good. We hope they may not be disappointed.

Everybody is trying to account for the lack of cold weather, and it is remarkable how many sages we do have.

We expect our new Gordon Job Press this week, when we will do all kinds of Job printing in the highest style of the art.

Bro. Traugh, of the Hollidaysburg Standard, paid us a visit last week. He looked as gay as a peach, without the blossom.

The Tyrone Herald aims high if it does lie low—it has booked Chaillu and Gov. Geary as subscribers. It must find a poor market at home.

If home institutions desire home patronage will they get it by sending their printing away, when it can be done as cheap and as good at home?

The West Huntingdon people now talk of erecting a market-house. Those enterprising people will not be long in getting this and other conveniences.

Bernard Wolf and Henry Betz each paid their 55th year's subscription to the Chambersburg Repository the other week. They should each have a gold medal.

It is to be inferred that on one holiday at least all the stores in our borough will be closed. This wonderful fact will occur next Christmas; reason is, it comes on Sunday.

We learn that a special train will be run on the Broad Top road on the evening of the 20th inst., for the accommodation of all who desire to hear Josh Billings lecture.

About the best thing, we think, we can offer our subscribers as a New Years' present is, the Globe enlarged. How many will present us their names and the cash for a year? Now is the time to subscribe.

We are pleased to note that Austin K. Buoy, now of Hollidaysburg, has taken a solemn oath before a Squire to abstain from the use of liquor as a beverage. We hope he will have moral courage to resist when tempted by false friends.

Prof. James Stevens of the Huntingdon Academy is teaching a night school in this place. If some of those boys who "run round at nights" would avail themselves of this opportunity there would be a brighter prospect for their future.

We must say it. D. S. Africa has the largest and best selection of Candies, Toys, Jewelry, Pen-knives, Pocket-books and Holiday Presents we have ever seen in this neck o' woods. Don't put off making your purchases, for now is the time for a good choice.

A subscriber out of the county says our "On the Wing" column is like a letter from home. Just so, but get a letter from home, though often short, is not more acceptable than a home newspaper, which not only gives all the home news of any importance but also gives the news of the day.

A SAD ACCIDENT.—On Saturday, December 3d, George Montgomery, aged about ten years, who resides with his parents at Three Springs, was carrying a rabbit-trap to the woods to set a short distance from town, when he caught his foot in a brush and fell with his face on the top of the trap, in which was a sharp nail about one and a half inches long, which entered his eye-ball, causing the contents of the ball of the eye to ooze out. Dr. Thompson was called in who dressed the wound. The boy is doing as well as could be expected, but the Doctor is fearful that he will lose the other eye also, through sympathy of the one that has received the wound.

ANOTHER.—Mr. Darius G. Doyle, carpenter of Three Springs borough, on Friday, December 2d, was at work putting the cornice on the gable of a building when the scaffolding gave way, and Mr. Doyle fell a distance of twenty-two feet, lighting on his right hand and the side of his head. A plank fell from the scaffold on which he was at work and struck him on the back of the neck. He was taken up insensible and carried to a house near by. Dr. J. F. Thompson was summoned, who examined him and found his wrist dislocated and a bone in the hand broken. The doctor pronounced the injuries internally of a serious nature.

Mr. G. W. Kough was on the scaffold also at the time it fell, but saved himself by catching to a window.

CHILD HURT.—On Wednesday last Harry, a little son of Mr. Samuel A. Steele, of this place, was almost run over by a wagon containing two hogs which weighed over 600 pounds. The little fellow had fallen down in the street, and as Mr. Steel and another man were hauling the wagon, Mr. S., who held the shafts, was suddenly knocked round by the wheel striking something, and on looking back he saw his son's head in front of the wheel.—Had he not looked back, the child would have been killed, as the wheel would have gone over his neck. The little fellow escaped with a slight injury, caused by the wheel scraping his head.

A FREE PITCH-IN.—Three colored women got into a fight in this place last week, which started by one calling the other a bad name, and the other one taking a part. They "fought nobly" for it was with difficulty they could be separated. The broil commenced over a mush-pot, and before it ended, the mush, hair, waterfalls and ribbons were scattered in all directions. The combatants made up shortly afterwards and were as "good as pie" to each other, and had a gay time narrating what they did and how they did it.

Just as a traveler was writing his name on the register of a Leavenworth, Kansas, hotel, a bed-bug appeared and took its way across the page. The man paused and remarked "I've been bled by St. Joe fleas, bitten by Kansas city spiders, and interviewed by Ft. Scott graybacks, but I'll be hanged if I was ever in a place before where the bed-bugs looked over the hotel register to see where your room was!"

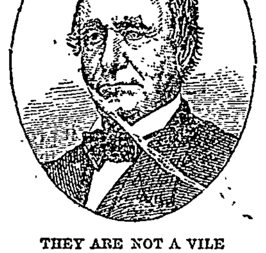
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?



FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

DR. SCHENCK advises Consumptives to go to Florida in the Winter.

Having for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung disease and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold, and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more Northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles further down the river is a point I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even and the air dry and bracing. Mendonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Medonville. It is two miles from river, or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times but that is good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite, and when this is the case they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hiberdia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature, and it is not necessary to say that where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds he is certain to die shortly. Therefore my advice is, go well down into the State out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Sacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat or cough. But for those whose lungs are diseased a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills, for the climate is more likely to produce billious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well established fact that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one third, at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the middle States it does not prevail so largely, still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh cold as they are about scarlet fever, small pox, &c. But they are not. They take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope for cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected even slightly is, to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know that where they are used in strict accordance with my directions they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest.—The physician who prescribes for cold, cough or night-sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is to give my three medicines, in accordance with printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is to give tone to the stomach—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry. I have hopes of such. With a relish for food and the gratification of that relish comes good blood and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs. Then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night-sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well provided he avoids taking cold.

Now there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy° which should be kept regularly at this point, by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit and diarrhoea ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night or every other night, and you may then drink water and watermelons, pears, apples, plumbs, peaches or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office, No. 15 North Sixth, Street. Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars The Respirometer declares the actual condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood that the value of the medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say that when persons take my medicines and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold, yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

ROSADALIS

THE Great American Health Restorer, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Diseases of Women and all Chronic Affections of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and thousand of our best citizens.

Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore says:

I take pleasure in recommending your Rosadalis as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of all alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of scrofula and secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesboro' Tennessee, says:

I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

Rosadalis is sold by John Read and S. S. Smith, Huntingdon, Pa., and Druggists generally.

WHAT I KNOW OF FARMING.

BY HORACE GREELEY.

XLII.

CO-OPERATION IN FARMING.

The word of hope and cheer for labor in our days is Co-operation—that is, the combination by many of their means and efforts to achieve results beneficial to them all. It differs radically from communism, which proposes that each should receive from the aggregate product of human labor enough to satisfy his wants or at least his needs, whether he shall have contributed to that aggregate much, or little, or nothing at all. Co-operation insists that each shall receive from the joint product in proportion to his contributions thereto, whether in capital, skill, or labor. If one associate has ten children, and the other none, communism would apportion to each according to the size of his family alone; while co-operation would give to each what he had earned, regardless of the number dependent upon him. Thus the two systems are radical antagonists, and only the grossly ignorant or wilfully blind will confound them.

A young farmer, whose total estate is less than $500, not counting a priceless wife and child, resolves to migrate from one of the old States to Kansas, Minnesota, or one of the Territories; he has heard that he will there find public land whereon he may make a home of a quarter-section, paying therefor $20 or less for the cost of the survey and of the necessary papers.—So he may; but, on reaching the land of promise, where with or without his family, he finds a very large belt of still vacant land beyond the settlements already transformed into private property, and either not for sale at all or held on speculation, quite out of his reach. The public land which he may take under the Homestead law lies a full day's journey beyond the border settlements, which he must look for mills, stores, schools, and even highways. If he persists in squatting, with intent to earn his quarter-section by settlement and cultivation, he must take a long day's journey across unbridged streams and sloughs, over unmade roads, to find boards, or brick or meal, or glass, or groceries; while he must postpone the education of his children to an indefinite future day.—Gradually, the region will be settled, and the conveniences of civilization will find their way to his door, but not till after he will have suffered thro' several years of want for them; often compelled to make a journey to get a plow or yoke mended, and a grist of grain ground, or to minister to some other trivial but inexorable want. He who thus acquires his quarter-section must fairly earn it, and may be thankful if his children do not grow up rude, coarse, and illiterate.

But suppose one thousand just such young farmers as he is, with no more means and no greater efficiency than his, were to set forth together, resolved to find a suitable location whereon they might all settle on adjoining quarter-sections, thus appropriating the soil of five or six embryo townships; who can fail to see that three-fourths of the obstacles and discouragements which confront the solitary pioneer would vanish at the outset?—Roads, bridges, mills, nay, even schools and churches—would be theirs almost immediately, while mechanics, merchants, doctors, &c., would fairly overrun their settlement and socilit their patronage at every road crossing.—Within a year after the location of their several claims, they would have achieved more progress and more comfort than in five years under the system of straggling and isolated settlement, which has hitherto prevailed.—The change I here indicate appeals to the common sense and daily experience of our whole people. It is not necessary, however desirable, that the pioneers should be giants in wisdom, in integrity, or in piety, to secure its benefits. A knave or a fool may be deemed an undesirable neighbor: but a dozen of such in the township would not preclude, and could hardly diminish, the disadvantages naturally resulting from settlement by co-operation.

Nor are these confined to pioneers transcending the boundaries of civilization. I wish I could induce a thousand of our colored men now precariously subsisting by servile labor in the cities to strike out boldly for homes of their own, and for liberty to direct their own labor, whether they should settle on the frontier in the manner just outlined, or should buy a tract of cheap land on Long Island, in New Jersey, Maryland, or some State further South. I cannot doubt that the majority of them would work their way up to independence, and this very much sooner, and after undergoing far less privation, than almost every pioneer who has plunged alone into primitive forest or struck out upon the broad prairie and there made himself a farm.

The insatiable demand for fencing is one of the pioneer's many trials.—Though he has cleared off but three acres of forest during his first Fall and Winter, he must surround those acres with a stout fence, or all he grows will be devoured by hungry cattle—his own, if no others. Whether he adds two or ten acres to his clearing during the next year, they must in turn be surrounded by a fence; and nothing short of a very stout one will answer; so he goes on clearing and fencing, usually burning up a part of his fence whenever he burns over his new clearing; then building a new one around this, which will have to be sacrificed in its turn. I believe that many pioneers have devoted as much time to fencing their fields as to tilling them throughout their first six or eight years.

It is different with those who settle on broad prairies, but not essentially better. Each pioneer must fence his patch of tillage with material which costs him more, and is procured with greater difficulty, than though he were cutting a hole in the forest. Often when he thinks he has fenced sufficiently, the hungry, breachy cattle, who roam the open prairies around him, judge his handiwork less favorably; and he wakes some August morning, when feed is poorest outside and most luxuriant within his inclosure, to find that twenty or thirty cattle have broken his defenses and half destroyed his growing crop.

If, instead of this wasteful lack of system, a thousand or even a hundred farmers would combine to fence several square miles into one grand inclosure for cultivation, erecting their several habitations within or without its limits, as to each should be convenient—apportioning it for cultivation, or owning it in severalty, as they should see fit—an immense economy would be secured, just when, because of their poverty, saving is most important.—Their stock might range the open prairie unwatched: and they might all sleep at night in serene confidence that their corn and cabbages were not in danger of ruthless destruction. Among the settlers in our great primitive forests, the system of co-operative farming would have to be modified in details, while it would be in essence the same.

And once adopted with regard to fencing, other adaptations as obvious and beneficent would from day to day suggest themselves. Each pioneer would learn how to advance his own prosperity by combining his efforts with those of his neighbors. He would perceive that the common wants of a hundred may be supplied by a combined effort at less than half the cost of satisfying them when each is provided for alone. He would grow year by year into a clearer and firmer conviction that short-sighted selfishness is the germ of half the evils that afflict the human race, and that the true and sure way to a bounteous satisfaction of the wants of each is a generous and thoughtful consideration for the needs of all.

And here let me pay my earnest and thankful tribute to Mr. E. V. de Boissiere, a philanthropic Frenchman, who has purchased 3,300 acres of mainly rolling prairie-land in Kansas, near Princeton, Franklin county, and is carefully, cautiously laying thereon the foundations of a great co-operative farm, where in addition to the usual crops, it is expected that Silk and other exotics will in due time be extensively grown and transformed into fabrics, and that various manufacturers will vie with Agriculture in affording attractive and profitable employment to a considerable populption. I have not been accustomed to look with favor on our new States and unpeopled Territories as an arena for such experiments, since so many of their early settlers are intent on getting rich by land speculation—at all events, through the exercise of some others' muscles than their own, while the opportunities for and incitements to migration and re location are so multiform and powerful. Doubtless, M. de Boissiere will be often tried by stampedes of his volunteer associates, who, after the novelty of co operative effort has worn off, will find life on his domain too tame and humdrum for their excitable and high-strung natures. I trust, however, that he will persevere through every discouragement, and triumph over every obstacle; that the right men for associates will gradually gather about him; and that his enterprise and devotion will at length be crowned by a signal and inspiring success, and thousands will be awakened by it to a larger and nobler conception of the mission of Industry, and the possibilities of achievement which stud the path of simple, honest, faithful work.

ADDRESS

TO THE

NERVOUS AND DEBILITATED.

WHOSE SUFFERINGS HAVE BEEN PROTRACTED

FROM HIDDEN CAUSES, AND WHOSE

CASES REQUIRE

PROMPT TREATMENT.

TO RENDER EXISTENCE DESIRABLE

If you are suffering, or have suffered, from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urine organs, or your kidneys, get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky or flocky, or is it ropy on settling? Or does a thick skum rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting, or rushes of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling on this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the lustre of your eye as bright? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits of melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you rest less nights? Your back weak, your knees weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering, successful business men are always those whose organs are in perfect health? You never hear such men complain of being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business; they don't become sad and discouraged, they are always polite and pleasant in company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other meanness about them. I do not mean those who keep the organs inflated by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitution, but those they do business with or for.

How many men, from badly cured diseases, from the effects of self abuse and excesses, have brought about that state of weakness in these organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—idiocy, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every form of disease humanity is heir to—and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

COUGHS, SORE THROAT, ETC

No medicine or treatment can excel the powerful curative power of

DR. SIMMS'

WHITE PULMONIC BALSAM.

It cures with a rapidity unequalled by any other remedy offered for throat and lung diseases. It is recommended by over 2,000 persons in Wilmington, and hundreds in Philadelphia, Baltimore and other cities and communities throughout the country. Mr. Pennington, of Wilmington, Illinois, writes that there is not (with a few exceptions) a family in that city who will be without it if possible to procure it. Such is its popularity wherever it is known—and this popularity arises from the fact that it universally cures all who use it. There is no case of

COUGHS, COLDS, SORE THROAT,

ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, CROUP,

BLOOD SPITTING, HOARSENESS, and even Pulmonary Consumption, where the system is not broken down with the wear of the disease, or pretended medicine, or inexperienced advice, that this Balsam will not cure if carefully used according to directions. We guarantee it all we represent it be, and invite a trial from the afflicted everywhere. Price 50 cts, medium size, and $1 for large size bottles. Prepared only by
